

Emergency RadDecon Kits

A revolutionary scientific product for radiation decontamination

Our products are currently in use to remove radioactive material in many nuclear power plants, in nuclear waste facilities and in hospitals with nuclear medicine departments throughout the United States and abroad. With the introduction of our new "all in one kit" we can now offer our products to the general public.

Now our scientifically-formulated products are available to all emergency staff including first responders, fireman and police. For the first time, using one easy Emergency RadDecon Kit you can safely, quickly, and significantly remove radioactive material from both yourself (intact skin and hair) and other surfaces. With this all in one kit you have everything you need to safely decontaminate yourself, your family, and all your important possessions in the event of a radiation emergency.

Contains:

- Wash for both transition & actinide metals
- M-7 quick decon wipes
- Spare water bottle
- Rubber gloves
- Trash bags
- Radioactive tags to properly label trash bags
- Instruction manual

